NOISE FLOWER

October 2026

Issue 1 · Preview

Issue 1 · Preview

Noise Flower

Sparrow
Mike Jewett

Poem · page 3
Original artwork · page 4

A selection from the forthcoming first issue.
The complete issue is not yet published.

Sparrow

Mike Jewett

But the sparrow
who hopped on hot concrete lied to a Libra sky —
it fell upon her from an aged sugar maple
like crows swooping,
their raven-black sheen
turning sidewalks
into dry midnight watering holes.
a nest of ants has found her wings & begins the difficult farmwork of slicing specks
for hungry grubs —
reincarnation is real
the iron in blood
was born in stars
carbon from the soil
is all bodies
& all bodies
warm from a star

Artwork for “Sparrow”

Grow Flowers. Make Noise.

Noise Flower · Issue 1 preview

Poem copyright © Mike Jewett.
Contributors retain their copyrights.

Read more at noiseflower.com